ABOUT DTI

Art and Toni Barkley served as missionaries for about 20 years in Bolivia with New Tribes Mission, where God formed in them the groundwork for the importance of discipleship.

After returning home, Art was bothered by the common perception that the Christian life is difficult. Why would the same God who designed the gift of salvation to be so easily received, then make the Christian life so difficult to understand and live?

The Holy Spirit has directed Art over the last 20 years to develop "A Tool for Personal Discipleship" – the foundational resource of Discipler Training International.

Frank and Jeannette Meitz attended Barkleys' discipleship class in 2004, where God "rocked their world," leading Frank to resign his secular job to volunteer full-time for DTI, spearheading the "Train The Trainers" branch of the ministry. They have facilitated "Equipping the Saints" workshops around the world, with a concentration the last 11 years on annual week-long conferences in Cuba, focusing on raising up Cuban leadership, as well as overseeing the DTI website and app.

DTI is a non-profit 501(c)3 organization. To help us maintain free resources, send tax deductible gifts to:

I'm Saved...Now What?

After a person accepts the gift of salvation, they typically are hungry and open to understanding how to live the abundant Christian life, but often don't know how or where to begin.

They may listen to sermons and podcasts, are told to read their Bible but struggle to understand it, and model their behavior after other believers' which often leads to wrong conclusions. So they end up wandering in the "spiritual desert" rather than living the abundant life God has promised.

Just as a newborn baby needs immediate and intentional care, we have found that "baby Christians" will flourish with intentional individual attention.

A Tool for Personal Discipleship, (Scripture-based) has proven effective in spiritual formation focused on:

- Learning to trust in God's character
- Allowing God to transform their thinking, leading to Godly behavior
- Making a decision to surrender and make Him Lord, not just Savior
- Abiding daily, living in dependence on the Holy Spirit

A Tool for Personal Discipleship

This core resource, can be used:

- In a one-on-one mentoring relationship (or one-on-two)
